

Few companies in aviation training are more widely recognized than CAE. As a world leader in innovative simulation and modelling technologies, CAE equips and staffs its training centres for a one-of-a-kind training experience. We also ensure our centres are located strategically around the globe for maximum convenience.

Together, CAE's business aviation training centres operate more than 50 full-flight simulators, representing a broad selection of corporate aircraft models that attract thousands of pilots every year, from all over the world. Pilots come to hone their skills through a variety of courses covering initial, recurrent, refresher, update and advanced training, and they enjoy a culture of service that enables them to fully exploit a unique learning opportunity.

Pilot Training

Business and corporate aviation

Experience you can count on

It is not just the level of expertise, experience and abundance of knowledge that makes our instructors the best in the business, it is the fact that there is little they cannot or will not do to help you succeed in your training.

They have worked in the corporate aviation world themselves, and have lived your operational reality. We know the critical role an instructor can play in the quality of your training, and this is why we set the standards high and why you will find that our quality instructors are also experienced pilots; pilots who are not just passionate about flying, but also passionate educators.

Unequivocal customer care

Because your training experience does not start and end in the classroom, CAE's staff is dedicated to keeping you comfortable and focused. It is all a part of the culture of service you will come to know when you train at a CAE centre. Beyond five-star training, we provide five-star concierge care, from helping you make your hotel and travel arrangements to dinner reservations, tee times and tickets to the game. It is the personalized service that differentiates us from the competition and more importantly, will make you want to come back.

Customized, convenient training

Our cost-efficient training solutions are often tailored to address the individual needs of your flight department, because one size does not fit all. Our training programs are flexible and our training centres, located worldwide for your convenience. Moreover, our programs have even been designed to take training beyond the classroom. Online training courses and practice tools offer pilots more flexible ways to stay current, by making training available anytime, anywhere.

Technology that gives you a competitive edge

Our leadership in new and innovative technology is what allows us to create the exceptionally authentic training environment in which we immerse pilots from their first day in ground school. Revolutionary training tools, such as CAE Simfinity™ trainers and virtual simulators (VSIM), which use the same technology as our full-flight simulators, make transition from the classroom seamless. Our flight training devices and Level D full-flight simulators bring a new meaning to hands-on, real-world training. Tools like these, combined with highly experienced and qualified instructors, contribute to the kind of training that gives you a competitive edge.
