

CAE INC.
MEMBERSHIP AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE
HUMAN RESOURCES COMMITTEE OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MEMBERSHIP AND QUORUM

The Human Resources Committee (the “Committee”) of CAE Inc. (the “Company”) shall consist of not less than four (4) directors, one of whom shall be the Chair of the Committee. All members of the Committee shall be independent directors, as determined by the Board taking into consideration applicable laws, regulations and other requirements applicable to such determination. Members of the Committee should possess a mix of experiences and skills to provide an appropriate balance for the performance of the duties of the Committee, including with respect to executive compensation.

The Chair of the Committee and its members shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors following recommendation of the Chair of the Board and the Governance Committee. If the designated Chair of the Committee is unable to attend a Committee meeting, the other Committee members present may elect a replacement Chair for that meeting.

A majority of members of the Committee shall constitute a quorum.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The Committee shall be an advisory committee to the Board of Directors. The Committee shall fulfill the responsibilities assigned by the Board by working closely and cooperatively with such officers and employees of the Company as the Committee considers to be necessary to cover all compensation matters and financial rewards, including salary plans, incentive compensation programs, pensions and other benefit programs of CAE and its material subsidiaries generally described as follows:

1. Review and approve the design and administration of executive compensation and benefit programs, balancing the interests of shareholders with the Company’s ability to attract, retain and appropriately reward its executives in the Company and its subsidiaries. This includes the administration of any long-term incentive plan of the Company for employees of the Company and its subsidiaries and the Committee shall have full power to construe and interpret such plans; establish and amend rules and regulations for their administration; set performance metrics for incentive plans; and perform all other acts relating to such plans that it believes reasonable and proper. For greater certainty, an Executive includes all the Officers, Group Presidents, Executive Vice-Presidents and other Vice-Presidents of the Company and all Presidents/Managing Directors of material subsidiaries of the Company.

Also, the Committee shall assess the extent to which performance goals are met when determining awards under the Company’s short and long-term incentive plans.

Furthermore, the Committee shall review and approve the choice of performance measures, and the target level of performance required to earn awards under the above-mentioned plans.

Finally, the Committee shall consider and recommend policies to address the implications of the potential risks associated with: the Company's talent and retention initiatives, the development and safeguarding of the corporate culture, the Company's compensation policies and training programs, Health and Safety (including Aviation Safety) issues and the Company's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion initiatives. This includes the review of the design, approval, and governance of material incentive programs to ensure they do not encourage excessive risk-taking leading to enterprise and/or human resources risks.

2. Review and approve the engagement of consultants to independently advise the Committee on compensation and benefit programs. The Committee shall be directly responsible for the appointment, compensation, and oversight of the work of any compensation consultant, independent legal counsel or other advisor retained by it. The Company shall provide appropriate funding for the payment of reasonable compensation to advisors retained by the Committee.

The Committee may select, or receive advice from, a compensation consultant, legal counsel, or other advisor only after taking into consideration the following factors:

- (i) the provision of other services to the Company by the employer of the compensation consultant, legal counsel, or other advisor,
- (ii) the amount of fees received from the Company by the employer of the compensation consultant, legal counsel, or other advisor, as a percentage of the total revenue of the person that employs the compensation consultant, legal counsel, or other advisor,
- (iii) the policies and procedures of the employer of the compensation consultant, legal counsel or other advisor that are designed to prevent conflicts of interest,
- (iv) any business or personal relationship of the compensation consultant, legal counsel or other advisor with a member of the Committee,
- (v) any shares of the Company owned by the compensation consultant, legal counsel or other advisor, and
- (vi) any business or personal relationship of the compensation consultant, legal counsel, other advisor, or the person employing the advisor with an executive officer of the Company.

In addition, the NYSE requires consideration of all factors relevant to an advisor's independence.

3. Review and approve at least every other year the comparator group for executive compensation and benefits benchmarking purposes.

4. From time to time, as required, meet with one or more material shareholders of the Company to discuss the Company's executive compensation and benefits.
5. Report to the Board of Directors concerning the Committee's actions and decisions, including changes in compensation and benefit plans that would materially affect the Company's financial performance, operating risks or long-term obligations.
6. Review and report to the Board concerning the Company's senior management succession and retention plan.
