

Merrill Stoddard

Vice President and General Manager,
U.S. Solutions
CAE Defense & Security

Merrill Stoddard is Vice President and General Manager of U.S. Solutions for CAE's Defense & Security business. Stoddard is part of a distinguished leadership team that presides over three unique business units, encompassing 5,000 employees worldwide. The U.S. Solutions unit includes Mission Solutions, flight training, and training centers.

Stoddard began this leadership role with CAE in August 2021, following the acquisition of the former L3Harris Military Training business. Prior to this post, he most recently served as Vice President of Operations for the L3Harris Technologies Broadband Communication Systems Sector. In this role, Stoddard had full operational and fiduciary responsibility for 1300 employees, delivering over 8,000 unique end items annually in a high-mix low-volume, engineer-to-order business model. He has a varied background in C4ISR, counter-intelligence, and foreign material acquisition, delivering proven results in program management, P&L leadership, global supply chain management, and manufacturing operations in the defense and aerospace industry.

Previously, Stoddard served as Director of Manufacturing, including all manufacturing and test-related activities to include many aspects of production, engineering, continuous improvement, training, and systems integration. He was also Director of Programs, with many responsibilities including daily oversight of business managers, planners, and program engineers, ensuring successful analysis, accuracy, and evaluation of business strategies and alignment of financial plans with strategic planning.

Before joining L3Harris, Merrill was Chief, Strategic Acquisition Contracts and Division Operations Officer at Hill AFB, Utah, providing executive leadership in multi-site international supply chain and logistics operations. He managed a $5B portfolio of highly classified advanced development programs and logistics support across seven geographically separated international locations. Merrill retired from the Air Force as a Chief Procuring Contracting Officer with unlimited warrant authority and over 20 years of service, including five combat deployments.

Stoddard holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration, from the University of South Carolina, and a Master's in Business Administration, from Grantham University.
